Man jumps to death on I-80

A Sacramento man killed himself Wednesday by jumping from the Harbor Blvd. overpass onto westbound I-80. Quick-reacting drivers avoided striking him or each other after the leap.

After police received the report of a possible suicide attempt at about 12:48 p.m. on Oct. 3, they found 26-year old Dennis Michael Hampton lying in the freeway's number two lane. Hampton was taken to an area hospital by ambulance, where he was pronounced dead at about 3 p.m. His injuries included severe head trauma.

Witnesses told officers they saw Hampton jump. His car, with keys in the ignition, was found parked on the overpass.

"Those citizens were alert drivers," said Officer Amy Weirich of the West Sacramento Police Department. "We give them a lot of credit for their quick response."

A memorial of flowers and flags went up on the overpass shortly after the tragedy.

Former campus officer retires after accusation of lewd conduct

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Juan Barcenas, formerly the West Sacramento police officer assigned to duty at local schools, has retired in the wake of criminal charges alleging he had improper contacts with a female student. The charges now pending in Yolo County court include "lewd or lascivious acts upon a child age 14 or 15," dissuading a witness, molesting or annoying a child, and false imprisonment without force or violence. The first two charges are felonies.

The West Sacramento Police Department has released only the sketchiest information about the case, citing an ongoing investigation. The Yolo County District Attorney's office has ignored a News-Ledger letter that cited the California Public Records Act and asked for basic information on the case.

The News-Ledger has attempted several times indirectly to invite comment from Barcenas, but has not been able to reach him directly. Likewise, the newspaper has been unsuccessful in learning if an attorney is representing Barcenas. The name of any attorney was not among court records made available to the News-Ledger yesterday.

The charges involve activity "on or about February 1, 2001," while Barcenas was still the officer assigned to River City High School in West Sacramento. Following the accusation, he was placed on leave by the department. He has since retired from the department.

Barcenas was ordered to present himself for booking on the charges, which he did on Aug. 28. In a hearing last week, the court apparently declined a defense motion to dismiss the charges, and scheduled the case for preliminary examination on Oct. 18.

Earlier, a police official told the News-Ledger that the charges stem from an accusation from a single youth – a local high school student – and that the accusations do not involve a sexual act. It was not clear that any witnesses could corroborate the alleged victim's story, he said.

Governor signs bill paving the way for West Sacramento to join Sacramento's sewage system

Governor Gray Davis signed AB 864, a bill by Assemblywoman Helen Thomson (D-Davis) to allow West Sacramento into the Sacramento Regional County Sanitation District. The annexation will help the district to serve West Sacramento, and to provide additional service to Natomas through West Sacramento as well.

"This is a measure to help the City of West Sacramento and the Sacramento Regional Sanitation District (SRCSD), with the cooperation of Yolo County, to build a sewage treatment facility in the most economical and efficient way to meet the growing needs of the region," said Thomson in a press release last week.

The bill was held up for awhile due to a dispute between West Sacramento and Yolo County. Yolo County had insisted on sharing representation on the SRCSD's board after the annexation, while West Sacramento refused to share the new seat. A compromise was reached in which West Sacramento would gain a full seat on the SRCSD board, while Yolo would receive its own limited and temporary seat.

The annexation plan would relieve West Sacramento of the need to build a new sewage treatment plant to serve its growth.

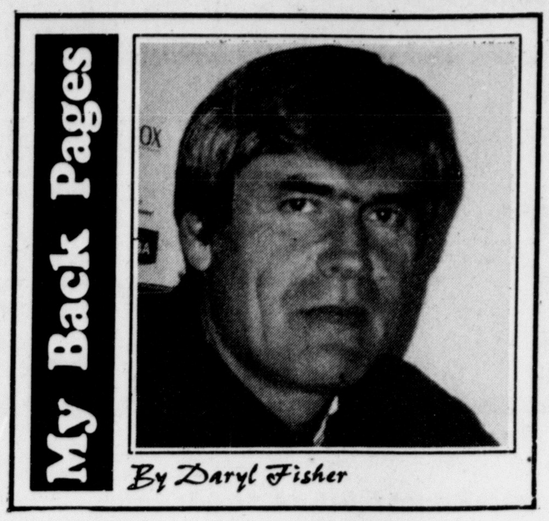
An open letter to the terrorists of September 11—



West Sacramento has a very distinguished history when it comes to the number of its residents who have proudly served their country during times of war. We have two Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts in our community, and we are home to countless men and women who have fought in either World War II, Korea, or Vietnam. One of those veterans (Roy "Red" McKinnon) recently dropped by the News-Ledger and asked me if I would be interested in using the following letter, written by an unknown author, in this week's column. Since I believe the letter represents the feelings of many in our community after the horrific events of September 11th, it is reprinted below, with a few paragraphs omitted because of space concerns. It is entitled, "An Open Letter to Terrorists":

Well, you hit the World Trade Center, but you missed America. You hit the Pentagon, but you missed America. You used helpless American bodies to take out other American bodies, but like a poor marksman, you still missed America.

Why? Because of something you guys will never understand. America isn't about a building or two, it's not about financial centers, it's not about military centers. America isn't about a place. America isn't even about a bunch of bodies. America is an idea. An idea that you can go someplace where you can earn as much as you can figure out how to, live for the most part like you envisioned living, and pursue happiness. No guarantee that you'll reach it, but you can sure try!

Go ahead and whine your terrorist whine, and chant your terrorist litany: "If you cannot see my point, then feel my pain." This concept is alien to Americans. We live in a country where we don't have to see your point. But you're free to have one. We don't have to listen to your speech. But you're free to say one.

I don't know where you got this strange idea that everyone has to agree with you. We don't agree with each other in this country, almost as a matter of pride. We're a collection of people who don't agree, called States. We united our individual states to protect ourselves from tyranny in the world -- another idea we made up on the spot. You can make it up as you go, when it's your country, and you are free enough.

Yeah, we're fat, sloppy, easy-going goofs most of the time. That's an unfortunate image to project to the world, but it comes from feeling free and easy about the world you live in. It's unfortunate, too, because people start to forget that when you attack Americans, they tend to fight like a cornered badger. The first we knew of the War of 1812 was when England burned Washington, D.C. to the ground. But that didn't turn out like England thought it was going to, and it's not going to turn out like you think, either. Sorry, but you're not the first bully on our shores, just the most recent.

So, who just declared war on us? It would be nice to point to some real estate like the good old days. Unfortunately, we're probably at war with random camps, in far-flung places, populated by people who think they're safe. Just like the Barbary Coast Pirates did, if I recall correctly. Better start sleeping with one eye open.

You guys seem to be incapable of understanding that we don't live in America, America lives in us! The American Spirit is what it's called. And killing a few thousand of us, or even a few million of us, won't change it. Most of the time, it's a pretty happy-go-lucky kind of spirit. Until we're crossed in a cowardly manner, then it becomes an entirely different kind of spirit.

Wait until you see what we do with that spirit this time. Sleep tight, if you can. We're coming.

Note: To date, the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund has received over 100 donations for a total of almost $9,000. The goal is to raise a $10,000 endowment, with the interest earnings being used to support a $500 annual scholarship for Washington Unified School District graduates who plan on attending a college in the Los Rios Community College system. Anyone who would like to make a contribution to the fund can do so by making a check payable to the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund, c/o the News-Ledger, PO Box 463, West Sacramento, CA 95691.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

It was a wild weekend in the Bay Area with Barry Bonds shattering McGwire's record with 73 home runs and Raiders and 49ers winning their home games before sellout crowds in excess of 60,000.

The Giants were eliminated from the playoffs in Friday night's 4 hour and 27 minute marathon loss to the Dodgers, which is a major league record for a nine-inning game. The Major League playoffs are set with the Western Division winning Diamondbacks facing the St. Louis Cardinals and the Atlanta Braves playing Houston in the best of five series. In the American League the Oakland A's will travel to New York to face the defending AL champion Yankees in the best of five and the Mariners, who finished the season with 115 wins and only 46 losses, play the Cleveland Indians. The A's will host game 3 and 4 on Saturday, October 13th and again on Sunday.

If necessary, game five will be in New York.

The only good news for the Giants fans this weekend was watching Bonds hit two home runs in the 11-10 loss Friday night and another in the season finale on Sunday to set three individual records that may never be broken.

Bonds finished with a .863 slugging percentage (total bases divided by at-bats) to brake Babe Ruth's 1920 record of .847. He also broke Ruth's base on balls record with 177 walks, surpassing the Babe's 170 free passes.

Mr. Bonds finished the season with unbelievable statistics. Barry batted .328, scored 129 runs, 32 doubles, 411 total bases, 107 extra base hits and knocked in a career high 137 RBI's. These numbers will win Bonds the National League MVP award!

The bad news for Giants fans is the possibly that Bonds, who is now a free agent, may have played his last game in a San Francisco Giants uniform.

Bonds wanted to sign an extension to his current contract in spring training but the Giants management wanted to wait until the 2001 season ended. General manager Brian Sabean is probably wishing he had signed Bonds in March and now will have to make some very tough decisions. Rumor has it the Dodgers and Yankees are very interested in Bonds and I don't mean James Bond.

The return of forward, Joe Max Moore, to the United States World Cup Soccer team proved to be the difference in the Americans 2-1 victory over Jamaica. Moore scored both U.S. goals. With the U.S. win and the combination of Mexico's 0-0 tie with Costa Rica and Honduras's loss to lowly Trinidad and Tobago the United States qualified for the 2002 World Cup in Japan/Korea. This will be the Americans four consecutive World Cup appearance. Costa Rica and United States have clinched the top two spots in the regional qualifier but third place is still up for grabs for the winner of the Mexico- Honduras game in Mexico on November1.

The Raiders (3-1) beat Dallas 28-21 but they should have blown out the Cowboys last Sunday but the Boys, who were 19 point underdogs, just wouldn't quit. The Raiders seem to put their offense into cruise control in the second half and appeared to be content in just winning the ball game. Next up for the Silver & Black is a trip Indianapolis to corral the triple offensive attack of Peyton Manning and the Colts. The Raiders (+3) will play the late game on Sunday night (5:30 p.m.) on ESPN.

The 49ers (3-1) for the first time since 1998 beat the Panthers ending a four-game losing streak against their former coach George Siefert. The 49ers offensive took control in the second half with Jeff Garcia and Terrell Owens hooking up for two third quarter touchdown to seal the Niner victory. The Niners defense did another outstanding job by putting pressure on rookie quarterback, Chris Weinke and holding the Panthers to 124 net yards in the second half. The 49ers (+3 ½), who have not won a road game in the NFC West since 1998, travel to Atlanta (10 a.m.- FOX) next Sunday to face the young Falcon quarterback, Michael Vick.

I won 2 out 3 of my weekly picks with the Bucs and 49ers winning but I lost the Monday nights game (Detroit +14) with the horrible Lions. The Sports Insider's record now stands at 8 wins and 4 losses. This week I like the 49ers (+3) over the Falcons and the Vikings (NL) at home against those weak Lions. On Monday night, in the battle of the winless teams, I'll go with the Cowboys (-2) to win their first game of the season over the hapless Redskins. This should be a great game!

The Sacramento Kings open the preseason on Sunday against the Dallas Mavs at the Arco Arena at 6 p.m.

See ya next week!

Local racer readies for upcoming schedule

By Burry Dulbeare

While waiting the past six weeks for the NASCAR Featherlite Southwest Series stock cars to get back into action, the Bonicelli Racing Team, and its' driver, Burney Lamar, have been somewhat busy. The team has been working on its' race cars in Colo. Spgs., while Burney has been doing his college homework in Sacramento, and racing late model stock cars at Altamont Speedway.

The next event for the FSWS is the "Las Vegas 100" on the one and a half mile oval at the Las Vegas Motor Speedway this Saturday night which will mark the third time the Series has raced the superspeedway. The Bonicelli team has experience on the big track, having won the two previous events in 1997 and 1998, each time with a different driver. Chris Raudman in '97, and MK Kanke in '98. West Sacramento's Burney Lamar will be the driver in 2001.

Prior to this event, Pikes Peak International Raceway and Phoenix International Raceway, both one milers, have been the largest oval tracks on the 2001 16-race schedule.

So what does this mean in setting up a race car? According to team owner, Mike Bonicelli, "The weight rule is different for this particular event; the tires are different in that we have to run inner-liners inside the tires, and the wheels are heavier, and the turns aren't as tight as on the smaller tracks, so we definitely have to make adjustments."

The cars will be running with restrictor plates under the carburetors at LVMS. "We really don't care that much for the restrictor plate. But we ran 'em in '97 and '98, and won both races, so I guess we should be happy with it. In the past it's been a good race and the plates have kept the cars together pretty well, so I think they accomplish what they want them to do and thats keep the speeds down."

Is the 21 year old worried about the 145-150 mile an hour speeds? "No. I'm not worried about crashing or getting hurt; that's the least of my worries. My biggest concern is getting there, going fast, and living up to what Chris and MK have done previously. Actually, myself, I think I do better on the bigger tracks than the shorter ones. You have more time to give the crew chief and the team better input to get the car exactly what I like to drive. I'm real comfortable with the team's ability, especially at this track, to make the car go fast." Kanke holds the SWS qualifying record at LVMS at 37.196 sec./145.177 mph set on November 7, 1998.

Coming up is a busy schedule for the Bonicelli Race Teams' WaveShield - Western Funding - AmeriSuites Pontiacs and their driver. According to Mike, "The team will be leaving Wednesday or Thursday and be gone for a week and a half, taking two race cars, and staying in California going from race to race. I'll be flying back and forth."

The driver says, "I've got this weekend in Vegas, next weekend in Bakersfield, (Mesa Marin Raceway) then three days later we have to be in Phoenix for a Thursday race, and then I have to go to Irwindale Speedway to drive a sprint car race that Saturday night, then the following Saturday to Tucson Raceway Park for our last Series race of the season."

But you know they love it.

TOURING with TEDDI

My friend and I once again tried to have dinner at the Caffe Vienna Wednesday night, but the waiter told us they were not serving on the patio, even though the patio was set for dinner. I do believe they have only one waiter; perhaps I'm wrong, but we left anyway.

Our need for sustenance took us to the Mongolian King and Chinese Too restaurant off Harbor Blvd., in the same shopping center as the Dollar Store and the Grocery Outlet, among others. It was about 7:45 p.m., and we were the only two diners except for two Oregon truckers who were staying at a local motel. When we left at about 8:30 p.m., there were still no more patrons. I happen to love egg flower soup, and I have had it both with and without corn, but I am sorry to say that there was so much corn in the soup that it tasted more like corn chowder.

My companion had a combination plate, while I had a most unusual "shrimp in lobster sauce," with no rice but lots of veggies. We didn't try the Mongolian BBQ, but my friend Frank Ronquillo says it is great. Lunch prices run from $4.95 to $6.95. Combination plates are $6.50 to $7.50. The Mongolian BBQ of beef, pork or lamb runs $5.95 for lunch and $7.50 for dinner, with all-you-can-eat. To go is $6.95.

We then dropped in to Sam and Theresa's Astro Club on Diner's Row (Merkley Place). You may have noticed the large sign over the door, stating "Owner Operated, Smoking Permitted." Knowing how so many places are being fined for permitting smoking, I asked Sam how he was getting away with it. He informed me that he had been in business in the same location for the last 23 years, and proudly showed me the permit from Yolo County permitting smoking.

The only hitch is that he cannot have any employees with that kind of permit, so he and Theresa have not had many holidays. One or the other must be working. I had previously hesitated to enter alone, being a senior lady. But now that I had a male companion, I went in, and I certainly wouldn't hesitate to go in alone again.

It is a charming bar. As you enter, there is a welcoming waterfall, a curved bar (with Sam behind it), a piano bar, and in the back room a pool table. The patrons were all enjoying themselves, and the bar was adequately lighted without being garish. All in all, it's a great place to meet new friends. Just one comment, Sam: paint the front! Outside, it's beginning to look a little seedy, and perhaps it frightens people off. I think you've got a great place, and now that I've met you, I know you're a hard-working man and you deserve the best!

Sammy's Astro Club is at 1267 Merkley Ave.; 371-9926.

I found a buffet coupon in my "junk mail" on Friday last, so my son and I went to Johnnie's Sidewalk Pizza for lunch today. Their buffet was serving pot roast, spicy chicken wings, mashed and scalloped potatoes, mixed veggies and a huge piece of pizza, plus a stupendous display of salad makings.

What a fun place!

Green & white checkered tableclothes, a big screen TV, and video games for the kids (up to 99 years!). My son had a pitcher of beer, but you do get a free soft drink with the buffet, served 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Johnnie's Sidewalk Pizza is nut just pizza – they also feature sandwiches from $4.50 to $5.95 and dinners (including garlic bread) from $5.25 to $9.95 for barbecue beef ribs. Or simply have an appetizer. Their buffalo wings are to die for.

You also have a choice of a variety of soda, beer and wine. Johnnie's has a large banquet room available for business meetings, office parties, or birthdays. Remember, Christmas parties are booking now.

Johnnie's Sidewalk Pizza is open Mon.-Sat., 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Sundays noon to 10 p.m. It is located at 1301 Merkley Ave. ("Restaurant Row"), and can be reached at 372-0432.

Lowering Those Monthly Bills

(NAPS)—If you're not saving money on your monthly bills, you're not alone. But by using one unique Web site, hundreds-of-thousands of people have saved money on their recurring monthly bills. Since LowerMyBills.com was launched, consumers have saved $28 million. A spokesman for the Web site reports that the typical user will save about $400 a year by lowering just one of their recurring monthly bills.

Consumers who make lowering their monthly bills a high priority are visiting a popular Web site.

The destination lets consumers research, compare and instantly lower their recurring bills all on one site for free. LowerMyBills.com offers savings via more than 70 service providers, and across 17 categories, including long distance, credit cards, insurance and debt reduction.

Examples of savings include: Gina Mahdavi of Fountain Valley, Calif. who saved $982 on her car insurance; Tammie Moss of Murfreesboro, Tenn. saved $120 a year on her cell phone; Joetta Heidorn of Columbus, Ohio saved $500 a year on her long distance bill. Many people visit the site to avoid getting into debt or even having to file for bankruptcy.

During this economic slowdown, everyone should be concerned with keeping their monthly bills manageable. And those consumers who make lowering their monthly bills a high priority are visiting this popular Web site.

News-Ledger Editorial:

To serve and be protected

A well-known local police officer, assigned to local schools, has been charged with improper conduct with a female student at a local campus. But the News-Ledger has had a devil of a time prying even the most basic information about the case from the West Sacramento Police Department or Yolo County District Attorney's office.

The department's public relations officer deferred questions to the police chief. And the police chief, citing the accused officer's reputation, his status as a family man, and his right to privacy, declined to provide any information at all. (The News-Ledger did not ask for any sensitive information from the investigation, nor for any "personnel" information related to the officer or his plight. Nevertheless, the answer was a polite "no.")

Believing this answer was ill advised, the News-Ledger then cited the California Public Records Act in a more formal request to the chief for basic information surrounding the charges.

The police department and city attorneys then delayed their response – despite prodding from the News-Ledger reminding them that the law only entitled them to 10 days to decide whether to provide the requested information. Finally, after the legal deadline passed and they received an additional phone call, they served up only the barest of information on the accusation. Included in the information released by the city was an unusually vague arrest report on the officer -- so vague that it did not even give the location of the alleged crimes beyond specifying that they occurred within city limits.

Releasing further information "would endanger the successful completion of the investigation," explained the city's attorney in an accompanying letter. That's why the public can't know where the improper conduct is alleged to happen, let alone what it was.

One hopes this explanation is true. But rare is a case in which the public can't be told the basic circumstances surrounding a long-existing criminal case. If anyone other than a police officer is arrested under these circumstances, the police department routinely releases the general circumstances of the complaint. Only such sensitive details as the identity of any minors involved, or of any victims of sexual assault, are withheld. In the case involving this officer, though, the city has expanded this cloak of privacy to the officer himself.

The city's response, though, has been absolutely stellar when compared to that of the office of Yolo County District Attorney David Henderson.

In the past five or ten years, the News-Ledger has phoned and written to Mr. Henderson on a wide number of different topics, attempting to obtain public information. Mr. Henderson's record of response has been perfect: he hasn't.

Mr. Henderson kept this record intact by ignoring his obligations under the California Public Records Act to the News-Ledger's latest request. Without a really, really good reason, that's a violation of state law.

As for the officer who stands accused: the existence of charges doesn't mean he's guilty. We'd all do well to remember that. A single accusation, unless unusually well corroborated, shouldn't be enough to destroy a man.

One thing, though, is certain. In the City of West Sacramento, reputation and privacy are far more valuable when they belong to those in blue. While you might think you have a right to know some details about an officer accused of misconduct while serving on a local school campus, your city government disagrees. And if you think you would receive the same protection if you were accused of a similar crime, then your city just might have some oceanfront property on the Yolo Causeway to sell you.

Letters to the Editor

Marshal Rd. musings

I read the article about Marshall Road putting in a sewer and water line.

I have property on Marshall in front of the new subdivision where they're putting in the sewer and water, so when they start building, it will already be in place.

Why can't they put out a stub for future new connections, so as not to tear up the road again? Another concern is that from Linden Rd. to Marshall, CalTrans is purchasing ten feet of right-of-way and is moving the power poles, and wants to relocate the ditch. This would be the time to put in a sewer and water line up to Linden. This affects several commercial businesses. When they open up Marshall Road, fifty percent or more of the residents will use that way out to Jefferson. There's also another development, with 1,200 more homes. Good planning is needed to solve our future development problems. I know the answer: "where is the money?"

Consumer Alert: Pac Bell warns against telemarketing scams, other schemers

Telemarketing donation scams are being reported across the country in the wake of the national tragedy on September 11th. In some cases, con artists are taking advantage of consumers' generosity by claiming to be from a charitable organization requesting a donation for the relief efforts going on in New York City and Washington, D.C. To be on the safe side, consumers should always do the following:

Ask Questions. If a person calls you claiming to be from a charity, ask questions to ensure you understand whom the caller represents and how your money will be allocated. Be sure to ask for a name, address and phone number to check the validity of the charity.

Request identification. If a solicitor comes to your door claiming to be with a disaster relief fund, ask to see company or charity identification.

Send a check. Always pay your donation by check. Make sure to make the check payable to the full official name of the charity, not to the individual solicitor collecting the donations.

Control your calls. Caller ID and Privacy Manager can help you identify where these calls are coming from, as well as keep solicitors who block their caller information from being able to get through to your line.

Trust your instincts. If a solicitor seems suspicious for any reason or is pressuring you for an immediate decision, take time to verify the charity before you make a contribution.

If you believe an organization may be misleading consumers into making false charitable donations, contact the Federal Trade Commission toll free at 877-382-4357, the Better Business Bureau or the California Attorney General's Office.

(NAPS)—If you have a warm spot for onion soup, here's a layer of onion tips and facts about storing and handling that should help you get the most out of the onions you cook with.

- Onions should never be stored in the refrigerator or in plastic bags. The best way to store onions is in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place.
- High heat makes onions bitter. When sautéing onions, always use low or medium heat.
- To reduce tearing when cutting onions, first chill the onions for 30 minutes. Cut off the top and peel the outer layers leaving the root intact. (The root end has the largest concentration of sulphuric compounds that make your eyes tear.)
- Onions not only provide flavor, they also provide health-promoting phytochemicals and nutrients. Onions have only 30 calories per serving and are sodium, fat and cholesterol free.

Here's a delicious recipe for onion soup that will warm you up while adding flavor and nutrition to your diet:

Savory Onion Soup

4 large yellow onions (about 9 to 11 ounces each), sliced
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
2 quarts reduced sodium chicken broth

Onions not only provide flavor, they also provide health promoting nutrients.

½ cup brandy (optional)
Salt and pepper to taste
½ baguette French bread, sliced, toasted
Grated Romano cheese (about 4 ounces)

Melt butter in large saucepan that holds at least 4 quarts. Add onions; slowly cook over medium-low heat 20 minutes, or until tender and golden. Stir often. Add sugar and cook, stirring, for 1 minute. Add broth; cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 12 minutes. If desired, add brandy; cook 2 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. To serve, ladle soup into bowl; float toast on soup. Sprinkle with cheese. Makes 6 servings.
